

I feel that the no call list should be made stronger. I work nights and I do not like getting woke up and my job requires me to be on call all the times so I can't turn the phone off. During the elections I just about was ready not to vote due to all the campaign calls. No one seems to relize that people work different hours and that any call is unwelcome unless it is from work, requested, or family and friends.